June 25, 2018 - Washington DC

(Full Conference & Expo Badge Only)

PART OF

As an integral part of ATIGS, The Forum for Africa Economic Development 2018 (TFAFED) will bring together high-level government officials, prominent players from the business world, academia and civil society to participate in a series of high-level dialogues on economic development in Africa. The lead theme chosen for TFAFED18 is "Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) for Africa". TFAFED is uniquely positioned to inspire widespread uptake of sustainability solutions among businesses around the world. Only delegates with Platinum or Diamond badge holders will be allowed to enter TFAFED Ministerial Dialogue.

The Ministerial Roundtable of TFAFED will be the opportunity for ministers (5 to 6) from different countries and regions participating in TFAFED 2018 to share their views on the overall theme of the Summit and the policies they would like to see enforced at the international level or any concrete actions or recommendations they would like to convey to an international body.

Africa stands at a crossroads. Economic growth has taken root across many of the regions. In many countries, exports are booming, foreign investment is on the continual rise and dependence on aid is declining. Government reforms are transforming the political landscape. Democracy, transparency and accountability have improved, giving Africa's citizens a greater voice in decisions that affect their lives. So the aim of TFAFED 2018 is to identify and share practical, evidence-based solutions that can support the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). TFAFED 2018 provides a unique opportunity to bring together government officials, academia, business executives, the United Nations and international agencies and NGOs to share practical solutions towards the continuation of achievement of more sustainable and inclusive societies in Africa.
